Save with Bundles

All over the United States, telecom companies now offer services in what are called "bundles." These bundles are simply "packages" of the most popular services. We named our bundles Simple Connections, because they are the simplest way to connect to the services you want most.

So why offer bundles? By combining services that used to be advertised, ordered, installed, billed, and serviced separately, those services can be delivered less expensively - so the collective price of those services can be lowered!

What services come in bundles?

- Local Telephone
- Long Distance Minutes
- High Speed Internet
- Cable Television

Plus, you have options to add unlimited long distance minutes or faster Internet access or more television channels - all at great savings!
